

Boulder Designs by Rocks-R-Us is a local and established franchise that has a ready-to-go business just waiting for a motivated individual to continue with the existing client list and available equipment and inventory! The product, Boulder Designs® boulders, is natural looking, cost effective site markers and signage for businesses, parks, schools, recreation facilities; anywhere signage or markers are needed. Boulder Designs® boulders are competitively priced compared to other signage options, have lower maintenance costs, and attract lots of attention. Wouldn't it be great to be able to construct a 10,000 pound signage boulder whenever one is needed?

Making boulders is easy. "Boulderology Bootcamp" is our franchise training program, which lasts one week at our headquarters in Waco, Texas. One day will be spent teaching you how to use Boulder Designs equipment and proprietary additives to create a strong boulder. Imagine all the business owners and residents in your area who could use Boulder Designs products for exterior signage or to enhance landscapes. In the United States, there are only a handful of businesses who build boulders. In franchising, we are not aware of any other boulder franchise opportunities. Other benefits include turnkey operation with excellent training and ongoing support; low-cost materials, supplies and inventory; protected territories assures no oversaturated markets; custom transport trailer makes for easy delivery and installation; complete proprietary equipment package; co-op advertising and marketing package.

Rather than taking a percentage of revenues each month, franchisees pay a flat fee.

The initial fee and the weeklong training cost, less airfare, are included in the price of $55,000 for Boulder Designs by Rocks-R-Us.
